For the first time, employed docs outnumber self-employed docs

Health Leaders Media

Employed physicians outnumber self-employed physicians for the first time in the United States, according to an updated study on physician practices by the American Medical Association. "Transformational change continues in the delivery of healthcare and physicians are responding by reevaluating their practice arrangements," AMA President Barbara L. McAneny, MD, said in a media release. READ MORE

Injuries Don't Wait for the Paperwork to Clear

Physicians and their patients are justifiably frustrated when delays in getting financial authority interfere with the timely provision of medical services. But physicians need to be careful that they do not become part of the delay. CAP's General Counsel Gordon Ownby analyzes an arbitration matter involving a pediatrician and a request for a consultation with an orthopedic surgeon.

Rare Head-To-Head Comparison of Two Bone Grafts

Two bone graft extenders differing in chemical composition were implanted contralaterally in 27 consecutive patients undergoing instrumented posterolateral lumbar fusion. It was hypothesized that differences in biomaterial composition may reveal differences in the rate at which new bone was formed. Learn more
